Important information about the Earned Income Credit

You may be eligible for a refund of up to $496

Our records show that you may be eligible for the Earned Income Credit (EIC), but didn't claim it on your 2018 tax form. Depending on your earnings and eligibility, your benefit can be up to $496.

Do not discard this notice because you may be entitled to additional money.

Summary

The credit, which can be up to $496, is for certain people who have worked and earned income. Please complete the worksheet on Page 3 to determine if you're eligible for the credit.

What you need to do

Complete the Earned Income Credit Worksheet on page 3.

If the worksheet confirms that you're eligible for the credit

- Sign and date the attached worksheet, and mail it to us in the enclosed envelope.

If the worksheet indicates that you're not eligible for the credit

- Please do not return the worksheet to us.

Next steps

If you're eligible for the credit, we'll send you a refund check in 6–8 weeks, as long as you don't owe tax or any other debts we're required to collect. If we deny the credit, we will send you a letter of explanation.

When you file your Form 1040 next year,

- Claim the credit if you are eligible.
- Write "NO" on the EIC line if you don't want or don't qualify for the credit.
- You can also ask the IRS to figure the EIC credit for you. Write "EIC" on the EIC line, and if you qualify for the credit, the IRS will calculate it for you.

Earned Income Credit Worksheet

- Step 1 Read each statement listed below, and place a check mark next to any that describes you.
- I lived in the United States for 6 months or less in 2016. (U.S. military personnel stationed outside the United States on extended active duty are considered to live in the U.S. during that period for purposes of the EIC.)
 - I did not have earned income or excess investment income in 2016 (see Pub 596 for a list of what is earned income and what is excess investment income for EIC purposes)
 - I can be claimed as a dependent by another person.
 - My Social Security card reads "Not Valid for Employment", and was issued so I could receive a federally funded benefit, such as Medicaid.
 - I am an Earned Income Credit qualifying dependent of another person. Being an EIC qualifying child of another person means that you meet all of the following criteria:
 - You are that person's son, daughter, stepchild, grandchild, foster child, brother, sister, half brother, half sister, stepbrother, or stepsister (or the child or grandchild of that person's brother, sister, half brother, half sister, stepbrother, or stepsister).
 - You were under age 19 at the end of the year and younger than that person (or that person's spouse, if the person files jointly). Or, you were under age 24 at the end of the year, a student, and younger than that person (or that person's spouse, if the person files jointly).
 - You were permanently and totally disabled, regardless of age.
 - You lived with that person in the United States, for more than half of the year.
 - You are not filing a joint return for the year (or are filing a joint return only as a claim for refund).
 - If you checked any of the above boxes, you're not eligible for the credit. Please do not continue completing this worksheet.
 - If you did not check any of the above boxes, you are eligible for the credit. Please continue to Step 2.

Step 2 Sign and date the statement if you are eligible for the credit.
Under penalties of perjury, I declare that this information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
