INDUSTRY STATISTICS AND THEIR LIMITATIONS

The industry groupings used for Statistics of Income, Corporation Income Tax Returns, conform with the Enterprise Standard Industrial Classification (ESIC), which classifies companies, rather than their individual establishments. The structure of the classification follows closely along the lines of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC), which is designed as a means of classifying establishments. (Both of these publications are issued by the Office of Management and Budget.) Some departures from the enterprise classification system are made for Statistics of Income for the finance industries in order to reflect particular provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. A comparison between the Standard Industrial Classification, 1972, the Enterprise Standard Industrial Classification, 1974 and the groupings used for Statistics of Income, 1977 can be found in the "General Description of the Corporation Source Book."

Even though the Statistics of Income classification system is designed to apply to the company rather than the establishment, its application to corporation income tax return statistics has limitations. A return is classified by industry based on the activity accounting for the largest percentage of total receipts. This means that large corporations with diversified activities are included in only one industry even though many of their business operations are unrelated to the industry in which they are classified. Therefore, statistics for an industry may be either understated by amounts reported by corporations whose principal activity lies elsewhere, or overstated by amounts reported by corporations classified in the industry but having substantial operations in other industries. When a company's operations are diversified among related minor industries, the diversification effect may be mitigated somewhat when data for related minor industries are aggregated into the major industries and to a greater degree when related major industries are aggregated into industrial divisions.

The 1995 Corporate Statistics of Income has been derived from a stratified probability sample of corporation income tax returns. The returns used were selected after revenue processing but before audit examination. Returns of the largest corporations are generally in the sample from year to year, but comparability of Source Book statistics is affected by consolidations and mergers, as well as by changes in the law, the tax forms, and the industrial classification systems used over the years. For information on the changes in law and the description of the sample and limitations of the data, see Statistics of Income--1995, Corporation Income Tax Returns.

NOTES

- * Estimate should be used with caution because of the small number of sample returns on which it is based.
 -  In order to avoid disclosure of information for specific corporations, these data have been combined with data in a lower asset size class.
 -  In order to avoid disclosure of information for specific corporations, these data have been deleted. Data are included in appropriate totals.
- (-0) Less than $500 per return.
1. Income year 1995 covers corporation accounting periods ended July 1995 through June 1996.
 2. Size of total assets are in thousands of dollars, except for the third asset column which should be read as $1 under $100,000.
 3. Detail may not add to totals due to rounding, deletion of data, and components not published. The statistics at the major group level were derived by adding the appropriate minor industries after combinations of asset size classes had been made. The statistics of industrial divisions and the U.S. Totals were similarly derived by adding the appropriate major groups and industrial divisions, respectively. These differences are particularly evident for the Net Income, Total lines when comparing identical industries between the two sections ("Returns With and Without Net Income" and "Returns With Net Income").
 4. Form 1120S returns, which are included in the first two sections, are also shown separately in the last three sections of this book. For more information on Form 1120S returns, see Wittman, Susan M., "S Corporation Returns, 1995," Statistics of Income Bulletin, Spring 1998, Volume 17, Number 4.
 5. Total 1120S Corporation Net Income (less deficit) represents net income (less deficit) from trade or business plus portfolio income (less deficit) distributed to shareholders, real estate rental net income, and net income (less deficit) from other rental activity. This amount reflects income (less deficit) reported on the Schedule K of the Form 1120S Corporation. This item is unique for an 1120S Corporation as compared with other form types presented in this publication.
 6. When data are the same for minor and major industries, only the major industry is shown. When data are the same for minor, major and industrial division industries, only the industrial division is shown.
 7. Negative income, deduction, asset and liability items reported by taxpayers are included in the related other field (other income, other deductions, other assets or other liabilities). Thus, negative amounts may be seen in other income, other deductions, other assets and other liabilities.
 8. Numbers in parentheses shown on the tax forms correspond to line numbers in the "with and without net income" tables for Forms 1120 and 1120S, found beginning on pages 9 and 481. Line numbers that do not appear on the forms indicate that the data were from other than a Form 1120 or 1120S or were the result of a combination of several lines.
 9. The Orphan Drug Credit was not available to corporations during Income Year 1995. It will reappear as part of the General Business Credit in Income Year 1996.
 10. See the report Statistics of Income--1995, Corporation Income Tax Returns, for a discussion of these statistics including: Changes in law; Description of the sample and limitations of the data; Explanation of terms; and, Facsimiles of corporation income tax returns forms, 1995. This report may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, US GPO, Washington, DC 20402.
