CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

This is our final adverse determination letter as to your exempt status under I.R.C. § 501(c)(15) of the Internal Revenue Code. Our adverse determination was made because, for the year(s) of the examination, you were not operated as an “insurance company” within the meaning of I.R.C. § 501(c)(15) of the Internal Revenue Code.

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination further explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization’s exempt status is necessary.

We have also enclosed Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues, and Publication 3498, The Examination Process. These publications include information on your rights as a taxpayer. They explain appeal rights and the procedure for obtaining technical advice.

Both technical advice and appeals procedures require a minimum of 180 days remaining on the statute of limitations. In order to take advantage of appeal rights or technical advice procedures, a taxpayer might be asked to execute a consent to extend the statute of limitations to permit Appeals consideration or submission of a request for technical advice. That was the situation in this case. Internal Revenue agents discussed with you the possible referral of this matter for technical advice. You declined that option. Internal Revenue agents also requested statute extensions. You elected not to extend the applicable statutes. As you are aware, the time remaining on the statutes does not allow for usual appeal procedures or submission of the case for technical advice.

Because this case involves exemption under I.R.C. § 501(c)(15), you cannot contest the adverse determination in a declaratory judgment action under I.R.C. § 7428. You can, however, contest the final adverse determination of exempt status in the context of any related deficiency case involving adjustments that flow from the loss of exemption. Thus, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, from any deficiency notice issued in this case or a related case after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publications 3498 and 892.

You are required to file federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above, for all years still open under the statute of limitations, and for all later years. File the federal tax return for the tax period(s) shown above with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

R. C. Johnson
