Tax years:

Dear _____ :

This letter is our final determination that you don't qualify for tax-exempt status under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(c)(3). Recently, we sent you a proposed adverse determination in response to your application. The proposed adverse determination explained the facts, law, and basis for our conclusion, and it gave you 30 days to file a protest. Because we didn't receive a protest within the required 30 days, the proposed determination is now final.

Because you don't qualify as a tax-exempt organization under IRC Section 501(c)(3), donors can't deduct contributions to you under IRC Section 170. You must file federal income tax returns for the tax years listed at the top of this letter using the required form (also listed at the top of this letter) within 30 days of this letter unless you request an extension of time to file.

We'll make this final adverse determination letter and the proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection (as required under IRC Section 6110) after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in the Notice 437 on how to notify us. If you agree with our deletions, you don't need to take any further action.

We'll also notify the appropriate state officials of our determination by sending them a copy of this final letter and the proposed determination letter (under IRC Section 6104(c)). You should contact your state officials if you have questions about how this determination will affect your state responsibilities and requirements.

If you have questions about this letter, you can contact the person listed at the top of this letter. If you have questions about your federal income tax status and responsibilities, call our customer service number at 1-800-829-1040 (TTY 1-800-829-4933 for deaf or hard of hearing) or customer service for businesses at 1-800-829-4933.

Sincerely,

Stephen A. Martin

Dear _____ :

We considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(a). We determined that you don't qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3). This letter explains the reasons for our conclusion. Please keep it for your records.

Issues

Do you qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3)? No, for the reasons stated below.

Facts

You submitted Form 1023-EZ, Streamline Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, on B. You attested on Form 1023-EZ that you are organized and operated exclusively to further charitable and educational purposes. You also attested that you have not conducted and will not conduct prohibited activities under IRC Section 501(c)(3).

During review of your Form 1023-EZ, detailed information was requested supplemental to your attestations. You incorporated on C in the state of M. Your Articles of Incorporation provide that you are the W chapter of X, which is recognized as exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(6). They further state that your mission is to create a network among people of color and others employed in or affiliated with the Y industry, and you will work to promote and enhance professionalism in a manner that leads to industry recognition and career opportunities for your members.

Your website promotes membership in your organization as valuable for many reasons, including:

- Networking opportunities, such as mixers
- Continuing educational credit opportunities
- Career development and agency opportunities in support of professional designations
- Access to industry-leading experts in all sectors of the Y marketplace.

You are supported by membership fees in the amount of z dollars per year. You remit one-third of this amount to Y to cover its administrative costs.

Law

IRC Section 501(c)(3) provides for the recognition of exemption of organizations that are organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or other purposes as specified in the statute. No part of the net earnings may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Treasury Regulation Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1) provides that, for an organization to be exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(3), it must be both organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes specified in such section. If an organization fails to meet either the organizational or operational test, it is not exempt.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) provides that an organization will be regarded as "operated exclusively" for one or more exempt purposes only if it engages primarily in activities that accomplish one or more of such exempt purposes specified in IRC Section 501(c)(3). An organization will not be so regarded if more than an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii) provides that an organization is not organized and operated exclusively for charitable purposes unless it serves a public rather than a private interest.

Revenue Ruling 68-504, 1968-2 C.B. 211, held that a nonprofit organization formed and operated to conduct an educational program for bank employees in a particular urban area may qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3).

Revenue Ruling 69-632, 1969-2 C.B. 120, describes a nonprofit organization composed of members of a particular industry to develop new and improved uses for existing products of the industry. It was held not to be exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(3) because any public benefit was secondary to the private benefit derived by the organization's members.

Revenue Ruling 71-504, 1971-2 C.B. 231, describes an organization exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(6) that primarily directed its activities to the promotion of the common business purposes of its members. The organization could not be reclassified as an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) because its activities were directed primarily at the promotion of the medical profession and thus furthered the common business purpose of its members.

Revenue Ruling 71-505, 1971-2 C.B. 232, describes an organization exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(6) that primarily directed its activities to the promotion and protection of the practice of law. The organization could not be reclassified as an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) because its activities were directed primarily at the promotion of the law profession and thus furthered the common business purpose of its members.

Revenue Ruling 74-553, 1974-2 C.B. 168, describes an organization whose principal activity is directed to establishing and maintaining standards for the quality and costs of medical services. Its primary objective is to maintain the professional standards, prestige, and independence of the organized medical profession and thereby furthers the common business interest of the organization's members. It did not qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3), in part, because more than an insubstantial amount of its activities furthered the private interests of its members.

In Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc. v. United States, 326 U.S. 279 (1945), the Supreme Court determined the activities of that organization were aimed at promoting the prosperity and standing of the business community and therefore, served a substantial private purpose. It concluded that the presence of a single nonexempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will preclude exemption regardless of the number or importance of statutorily exempt purposes.

Application of law

You are not described in IRC Section 501(c)(3) because you do not meet the operational test as required by Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1). You do not meet the operational test because you are not, as Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) requires, operated exclusively for one or more exempt purposes.

You are not operated exclusively for exempt purposes under Treas. Reg. Sec. 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii) because, like the organizations described in Revenue Rulings 69-632, 71-504, 71-505, and 74-553, substantially all your activities are directed primarily at the promotion of the X profession and thus further the common business purposes of your members.

You are unlike the organization described in Revenue Ruling 68-504. While some of your activities are educational, substantially all your activities are directed primarily at the promotion of the Y industry and thus further the common business purposes of your members.

While some public benefit is derived from your activities, a more than insubstantial part of your activities is directed primarily at the promotion of the Y industry and thus further the common business purposes of your members. According to the court in Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc., such a single non-exempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will preclude exemption, regardless of the number or importance of exempt purposes the organization serves.

Conclusion

Based on the above facts and analysis, you do not qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3) because you are not operated exclusively for exempt purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3). You have the substantial non-exempt purpose of advancing the common business interests of your members, which furthers private interests. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption under Section 501(c)(3).

If you agree

If you agree with our proposed adverse determination, you don't need to do anything. If we don't hear from you within 30 days, we'll issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information on your income tax filing requirements.

If you don't agree

You have a right to protest if you don't agree with our proposed adverse determination. To do so, send us a protest within 30 days of the date of this letter. You must include:

- Your name, address, employer identification number (EIN), and a daytime phone number
- A statement of the facts, law, and arguments supporting your position
- A statement indicating whether you are requesting an Appeals Office conference
- The signature of an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization or your authorized representative
- The following declaration:

For an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this request, or this modification to the request, including accompanying documents, and to the best of my knowledge and belief, the request or the modification contains all relevant facts relating to the request, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

Your representative (attorney, certified public accountant, or other individual enrolled to practice before the IRS) must file a Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, with us if they haven't already done so. You can find more information about representation in Publication 947, Practice Before the IRS and Power of Attorney.

We'll review your protest statement and decide if you gave us a basis to reconsider our determination. If so, we'll continue to process your case considering the information you provided. If you haven't given us a basis for reconsideration, we'll send your case to the Appeals Office and notify you. You can find more information in Publication 892, How to Appeal an IRS Decision on Tax-Exempt Status.

If you don't file a protest within 30 days, you can't seek a declaratory judgment in court later because the law requires that you use the IRC administrative process first (IRC Section 7428(b)(2)).

Where to send your protest

Send your protest, Form 2848, if applicable, and any supporting documents to the applicable address:

U.S. mail:
